DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1 – 3, 8 – 15, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation, "...the ferroelectric thin film comprising silicon, or silicon and germanium, in elements of ferroelectric." There is no disclosure of the type or amount of silicon or silicon and germanium contemplated for use with the invention. It is not known if atoms, ions or crystals are used in the device. Nor is the contemplated quantity of silicon or silicon and germanium disclosed. Since it is common practice in the art to prevent silicon from diffusing to ferroelectric films, there is concern with the silicon ruining the ferroelectric properties of the film. It is not known what amount would achieve the desired effect without destroying the device. One having ordinary skill in the art would be required to use undue experimentation to arrive at the correct amount, while not knowing the advantages or desired effects from mixing the silicon or silicon and germanium with the ferroelectric film.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1 – 3, 8 – 15, 28 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites the limitation, "...the ferroelectric thin film comprising silicon, or silicon and germanium, in elements of ferroelectric." The scope of the claim is vague, since it is not known if the silicon or germanium is a reference to crystals or atoms. Further, there is no currently known ferroelectric in the periodic table of elements.
